

Contents

Introduction: Raymond Williams and Working-Class Writing
Phil O'Brien and Nicola Wilson

Publishing and Working-Class Writing: An Interview with John Goodridge
Nicola Wilson

The Intimate Histories of Class: An Interview with Lynsey Hanley
Phil O'Brien

Keywords
Tony Crowley

British Working-Class Literature after 1945
Raymond Williams

An Uneasy Avant-Garde: The Politics of Modernism in 1930s Proletarian Fiction
Matti Ron

Angry Young Men at the Kitchen Sink: Rethinking Representations of Gender in Working-Class Literature
Jack Windle

Slaggy Mums: Class, Single Motherhood, and Performing Endurance
Katie Beswick

Recoveries
Shame, Self-doubt, and Autobiography: Malachi Whitaker's And So Did I
Susie Panesar

Reviews

Notes on contributors

Raymond Williams Foundation (RWF)

Open-access Policy - Green Route

Style Notes for Contributors